I grew up in the Imlay City area. My first art award was in first grade for best illustrator. I think that is when I was good at creating things. Throughout school I won several awards and many from the Eastern Michigan Fair. I started oil painting, in 8th grade when my parents gave me lessons as a christmas present. I attended the University of Michigan-Flint, earning my BFA with a concentration in Graphic Design and minor in Communications. In college I worked on projects including the Millennium Mural along the Flint River, which at the time held the record for longest mural in the world. Since moving to Howell in 2003 I have worked freelance doing everything from creating invitations, logos, original paintings, wedding photo montages and digital scrapbooks to working with a commercial artist doing architectural illustrations. I am married and have two wonderful little girls that keep me very busy. I do take time to make artwork a priority. Some future projects include a children's book and a jewelry!
